

BEDFORD SPRINGS.

Over $100,000 Will Be Spent for Improvements to Our

"CARLSBAD OF AMERICA."

Some Important Changes Already Have Been Made—Very Sign Points to a Most Successful Season

BEDFORD SPRINGS, June 2.—The Bedford Springs hotel threw open the doors of hospitality to its large clientele last week and among the first to register was George H. Colket, of Philadelphia, president of the Huntingdon & Broad Top Mountain Railroad & Coal company, who brought as his guests a number of prominent railroad officials and business men of the Quaker City. Mr. Colket is more or less interested in Bedford Springs and the progress and developments to his friends here and show them around the magnificent country, which at this season, was its most gorgeous coloring. He entertained his friends royally. The famous old telly of the Bedford Springs was brought from its resting place of the last few months and Mr. Colket and his party bowed away over the hills on several occasions, enjoying the beauty of the surroundings and the exhilarating atmosphere. On the way down from Huntingdon in his private car Mr. Colket treated his guests to a side trip to the mines of the Huntingdon & Broad Top Mountain Railroad & Coal company. Mr. Colket every season spends from a month to six weeks at the Springs with his family, arriving usually about the middle of July.

Our "Carlsbad of America" began the season with a larger number of arrivals than for many seasons past, despite the fact that this year the hotel opened two weeks earlier than usual. A most prosperous season is indicated by the large number of advance bookings, and this particularly for the month of June, which is usually a poor month for resorts in general. There are already signs of engagements for July, and even August, and every sign points to a most successful business for Bedford Springs.

While Bedford Springs has enjoyed the reputation of the largest and best equipped resort hotel in Pennsylvania, it has done much during the past few months to enhance the attractions of the place and increase its facilities for the comfort and care of its host of patrons. The entire south side of Building "B" has been remodeled on each floor, permitting a most convenient arrangement of rooms, en suite with private bath rooms and ample closets, and ideal public toilet and bath rooms have been installed. The carpenters, painters and decorators, plumbers and electricians have been busy since the "opening" weather putting this building and the others in first-class condition, so that the most visitors to the resort can now be assured of perfect accommodations in every respect. Some very material changes have also been inaugurated in the "Administration," or "A" building, particularly in the office, which is now much more convenient and cozy than under the old arrangement. Bookings have been made for the season, with seats have been placed altogether in a very good improvement. The guests about the hotel are in splendid condition for this time of the year. The improvements above referred to are but a beginning of more extensive ones in preparation. Plans and specifications are already drawn for improvements before the opening of another season that will constitute an outlay of some $100,000. The plans call for practically an entirely new "Administration," or "Office" building on the site now occupied by Building "A," which gives a beautiful office and reception on the main, or first floor, billiard room, ball room, cafe, ladies' reception and returning rooms. On the second floor will be the large dining room, which will be the equal in its appointments of any other resort hotel in the country. There will also be constructed a kitchen thoroughly equipped with all the modern accessories of that department, which will enable Bedford Springs to take care of the maximum number of patrons at the minimum expense of energy, owing to the ideal arrangements of the whole plan. Mr. Bemis' large estate in his Nassau house of the Florida East Coast Hotel company, which has been having taken over detail has enabled for the Bedford Springs improvements and additions that will make the latter a model among the resort hotels of the country.

Plans which constitute the expenditure of about $35,000 are also drawn and specified for the new and elaborate bath house with facilities for every kind of a bath and a large swimming pool of fresh water besides plunges of the several famous mineral waters of Bedford Springs. There will also be a solarium or sun parlor, in connection with the bathing establishment, so that the seeker after health will find here everything that a progressive age demands, and no longer have to travel abroad at great expense to "take the waters" of the foreign spas. These improvements will practically amount to a regeneration and go far toward making this splendid resort one of the most attractive and modern of hostilities where every convenience and comfort can be enjoyed.

The Bedford Springs company, limited, is the owner of the Bedford Springs hotel and the Bedford Springs waters with Samuel Baneroff, Jr., of Wilmington, Del., as the principal stockholder.

During the past winter the stock of the company was taken over by the Baltimore. The entire company has been reorganized and H. E. Bemis, who so successfully conducted the hotel last season, has been retained as the general manager of the Bedford Springs hotel property and the Bedford Springs Water company. The latter company contemplates placing the Bedford Springs water and the Bedford Springs water before the public on an extensive scale. Although these waters have been known for over a century, the reorganization of this company means heavy expenditures in Pleasant Valley Pointers.

PLEASANT VALLEY, June 2.—Joseph E. Smith, one of our popular citizens and expert fisherman of this place, recently waded his way, with his rod and line, to the Damming's creek to try black in catching the finny tribe. As he patiently waited for a bite finally his desire was granted and he supposed that a sea monster had swallowed his hook and line. He tugged and pulled with might and main to land his coveted game, but to no avail, and at last he was forced to call for help. A horse and chain was found and the chain was looped around the reptile's neck and it was hauled to the shore. It was a turtle and weighed 45½ pounds. Mr. Smith triumphantly marched homeward with his game and decided that he would not go fishing very soon again.
